

GEO MEDTECH VENTURES S.à r.l.

PRIVACY AND COOKIE POLICY

September 2023

Introduction

Geo Medtech Ventures S.à r.l. ("GEO") is a registered alternative investment manager pursuant to Article 3 of the Law dated 12 July 2013 relating to alternative investment fund managers, as amended from time to time (the "AIFM Law").

GEO thanks the users for consulting this website and for their interest towards its products and services. attaches great importance to the adequate protection of personal data collected and processed during visits to their websites.

Below you will find a description of how your personal information is processed. If you do not agree with the conditions set out by the privacy and cookie policy, we ask you to stop navigating this website.

By continuing to use this website, you confirm that you are at least 18 years old and agree to the privacy and cookie policy.

This policy can be changed at any time without notice. We invite you to re-read this each time you access the GEO website.

Object and purpose of the policy

The protection of the privacy and personal data processing of users who consult the GEO website are very important. GEO, understanding that the users are entrusting it with personal information, takes very seriously the obligation to protect and safeguard this information. This policy therefore illustrates the types of data collected during your use of the website, the purpose for which it is collected, the way in which it is processed, the persons to whom it might be transmitted, and the security measures implemented to protect it.

This policy is applicable to any data acquired by GEO as a result of your consultation of its websites. This does not apply to any website controlled by third parties unrelated to GEO that you may access through links from the GEO site.

Data processed

During the consultation of the GEO website, our server automatically records some information related to this usage (for example, your IP address, the website from which you arrived at our site, and including the date and the duration of the connection).

In addition, we collect the personal data you provide to us; for example, personal data entered by the user (name, gender, address, e-mail address, telephone/fax number) on a registration page.

Purpose of data processing

GEO could use personal data:

- for the administration of clients and users;
- to inform customers about its products and services;
- for use in general or personalized marketing campaigns;
- for the further development of digital channels;
- to comply with legal and security obligations;
- for other purposes referred to in the use of certain products and services.

GEO respects all current laws and regulations regarding the use of personal data.

Transmission of data on the use of electronic services

Your data is not used by GEO for purposes other than those described above. The data on the usage of the websites may be shared with third parties where permitted by law, if GEO is required to do so or if data transmission is necessary to enforce our rights, in particular in the event of a dispute relating to a contractual relationship. In addition, GEO can disclose your information to service providers, indicating that they should use it only for the purpose for which it is provided. All individuals and entities who may receive data must comply with the applicable international and national laws on data protection, as well as with the data protection norms of GEO.

Security measures

GEO has adopted reasonable technical and organizational security measures in order to protect personal data collected through the websites from unauthorized access, misuse, loss or destruction, taking into account the applicable legal and regulatory requirements.

Transmission of data via the internet

Generally speaking, the Internet is not regarded as a secure environment, and information sent via the Internet can be viewed by unauthorized third parties, with a potential risk of disclosures, alterations in content and technical issues. Even if the sender and recipient reside in the same country, information sent via the Internet may be transmitted outside national borders and directed to a country with a lower level of data protection than exists in the country of residence.

Please note that GEO assumes no responsibility for the security of your data while you are transferring it to us via the Internet.

COOKIE

Cookies are small strings of text that are stored on the user's computer in order to track the pages you visit and your browsing preferences and are sometimes used to save settings between sessions. Cookies enable developers of electronic services to collect statistics on the frequency of visits to certain areas of the site and help with planning the sites so that they are more useful and more accessible. GEO websites use only technical cookies, used for enabling browsing and the enjoyment of the functionality thereof.

Links to other sites

GEO websites may host third party content or links to third-party websites that are not operated or monitored by us. Please note that such third-party websites are not subject to this privacy policy, and that GEO is not responsible for their contents or norms of personal data processing. We recommend that you consult and check the individual privacy policies or the terms of use of third-party services.

QUESTIONS/CONTACT

For any questions concerning personal data processing, please use the following e-mail address info@geo-medtech.com